TO REDUCE DUTY ON PAPER.

Bellamy's Bill Strongly Supported in the House.

ITS PASSAGE IS DOUBTFUL.

South Carolinians Confer—Maryland Seeking Indemnity for Money Paid Gen. Jubal A. Early.

Special to the Telegram.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Strong pressure is being brought to bear upon the house of representatives to secure the passage of the bill of Representative Bellamy to modify the duty on paper so as to relieve the country from the burdens imposed by the paper trust.

The petitions which are being presented to congress for this purpose come principally from the newspaper publishers of the country, who, perhaps, more than any other class feel the heavy burdens imposed by the trust.

A large number of petitions were presented by members of the house this week asking for the passage of the bill. Among them were petitions from the publisher of the Gleason,

Henderson, Kentucky; The Times, Woodland Park, Colorado; The Morning Sun, Rio, Colorado; The Greenup News, Charleston News, Matton Commercial and Toledo Democrat, all in the state of Illinois; The Sentinel, the Spectator, Staunton, Virginia; The Exponent, Culpeper, Virginia, and from James L. Sims, an editor of Orangeburg, South Carolina, and many others.

The fight for the passage of Mr. Bel-lamy's bill is being made principally by the smaller newspapers of the country, who feel the duties imposed perhaps more than the larger dailies.
The country papers are especially active in fighting for the repeal, a modification of the bill has now been imposed.

The bill is pending before the ways and means committee of the house, and giving testimony and arguing before the committee in favor of the measure.

It is regarded, however, as extremely doubtful if anything can be accomplished during the present session of the house.

A. C. Kaufman, one of the best known southern gentlemen and popular citizens of Charleston, S. C., accompanied by Sheriff Martin, of Charleston, were at the capitol Thursday afternoon for the purpose of obtaining an important conference with Senator Tillman, Representative Elliott, and other members of the South Carolina delegation. The primary matter which brings the gentlemen to Washington is in connection with the establishment of a sanitarium at Castle Pinckney, in Charleston harbor, under the auspices of the National Soldiers' Home.

Among other things the gentlemen presented petitions in favor of the passage of the bill to equalize the salaries of letter carriers, which has given rise to much discussion lately.

The citizens of Frederick, Maryland, are trying to secure from congress an appropriation of $2,000,000 by way of indemnity for loss and injuries suffered by them on account of the ransom which that city was compelled to pay to General Jubal A. Early, July 25th, 1864. A petition for this purpose, nu-merously signed, was presented to the senate by Senator Wellington.

The Nicaragua canal bill, according to Senator Morgan, under whose committee the bill is resting, will not be called up in the senate for consideration until the house of representatives has acted thereon. The reason assigned by Senator Morgan is that the financial measure has the right of way, and he doubts now if he would be able to secure a vote on his bill even after that is disposed of.

ton's remains not exceeding one day funeral services will be held in Washington.

head and Gilmer townships, under the days.

NEW DEPOT AT SALISBURY.

The Work to be Commenced in the Spring

The much-discussed and long-looked-for modern passenger depot of the Southern is to come with the spring.

For some time it has been whispered about that Salisbury was to be favored with a new passenger depot during the year that is now begun.

The present depot has been used for years—until it has about outlived its time, and Salisbury, which is one of the main terminal points of the Southern, is now to receive the attention she deserves.

The new structure will be modern in its appointments and will be a depot of which the Salisbury may well feel proud.

That the prospects of the new depot are not imaginary, is proven by the drawing of the plans, which work is now being done, if not already finished.

Greensboro got a new depot, the handsomest on the Southern in the state, not long since, and one has recently been built at Danville. According to the program, as read by those interested, the next point for a modern depot is Salisbury—Salisbury Sun.

TURPENTINE PRICE ADVANCED.

The Wilmington Market Highest
Since 1883.

Wilmington, Jan. 25.—Not since April, 1883, has spirits of turpentine reached a higher mark on a southern market than the price at which sales were made here today, viz: 51 cents with a firm tone. In connection with the uniform high price, tar and rosin, which have prevailed for several weeks, operators in turpentine are reaping a rich harvest and expect good prices throughout the season.

Spirits of turpentine receipts at the port of Wilmington for the crop year to the present are in excess of those of a corresponding period last year by over a thousand cases, notwithstanding shortages in the production reported on other markets.

SIXTY-THIRD ANNIVERSARY

Of Michigan's Admission to the Union Celebrated in Washington.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Jan. 26.—A large display was given last night by the Michigan State Association of the city of Washington, the occasion being the celebration of the sixty-third anniversary of the state's admission to the union. Justice Brown, of the United States supreme court, responded to the toast, "The Judiciary." He spoke earnestly about questions of far-reaching importance that will come before the supreme court for consideration in the next few years, and added that he hoped he would live long enough to write an opinion on the case sent to the supreme court by the courts of Puerto Rico and Hawaii and possibly the Pulli; piece.

ALL TO BE VACCINATED

Winston Board of Health to Enforce Vaccination.

Winston, N. C., Jan. 25.—The board of health met this afternoon and decided to employ four physicians residing outside of the city to begin a house-to-house canvass next Monday.
Each doctor will be accompanied by an officer, and those found without a certificate of vaccination or an excuse will be vaccinated at their homes. If any refuse to comply with the law they will be arrested and made to pay a fine of $50 or go to prison for thirty days.

The proposition made to the government some time ago offering Forsyth county free for three years if the federal court was removed to Winston from Greensboro, was amended today by the county fathers, the time being extended to five years.

The directors of the Piedmont Savings Bank met today and elected officers. D. H. King, a native of Richmond, but for several years a one of Winston's successful business men, was chosen president, and L. W. Pegram cashier. The bank will begin business February 1st. The authorized capital is two hundred thousand dollars.—Morning Post.

MONEY AND PRITCHARD.

The Mississippi Senator Opposes the North Carolinian's Resolution.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Senator Money, of Mississippi, made a vigorous speech in the senate today in reply to the speech of Senator Pritchard on the proposed amendment to the constitution of North Carolina. Pritchard's reference to the constitution of Mississippi received the special attention of Senator Money. The speech was attentively listened to in the senate.

Senator Pritchard interrupted the speaker several times, challenging some of the statements made, and at the same time defending his resolution.

Senator Money argued very largely from a legal standpoint. He declared that the fact that North Carolina contained 50,000 negroes who can read and write was a refutation of the charges of discriminations and that the constitutions of Mississippi and other southern states had produced wonderful beneficial education results among the people. He asserted that the resolution of Senator Pritchard was for campaign purposes. Senator Pritchard asked Mr. Money if the clause in the state constitution relating to the reading and writing qualification did not mean that the reading and writing must be done in the original state of the citizen.

Senator Money replied that the law as it read: "That the voter must read and write the constitution." The legislature of North Carolina's enactments on this question excluded from the ballots the illiterate whites as well as the illiterate blacks.

Senator Money said he was not one of those who believed altogether in an educational qualification. He rather believed in inheritance or blood. It had been demonstrated that even education had not qualified the negro race for self-government. The poll tax question was discussed. It had been grossly abused and prostituted by the politicians, said the senator. "Whenever the sustaining hand of the white man is withdrawn from the negro, he rapidly descends in the direction of his original state of barbarity."

Senator Money was requested by North Carolinians to make reply to Senator Pritchard.

COLLIDED IN A FOG.

One Man's Leg Crushed—Several People Badly Bruised.

Waycross, Ga., Jan. 25.—In a dense fog at 7:30 this morning a special train of the Plant System and a freight crashed together, head on in the yards here. The special had on board about 200 retail lumber dealers from individuals who were en route home from an excursion through South Georgia and Florida.

Mr. Davis, a hardware dealer of Wabash, Ind., was caught between two cars telescoped and his legs crushed. They will probably be amputated. Mrs. Smith, who held a baby in her arms, suffered severe injury to one leg. The child was unhurt.

Thirteen other passengers were more or less severely bruised but none seriously. The accident occurred within a few yards of the Plant System hospital and the wounded were immediately moved there. Two cars were wrecked. Each train was running slowly and there would have been a horror. It appears there was a misunderstanding of orders, as the special running as the second section of the regular train was just pulling into the yard as the freight attempted to pull out on the same track. The fog was so dense that the engineers could see only a few feet.

WARREN CAUGHT IN A TRAP

Unmercifully Battered by Hidden Boer Guns.

HE WAS FORCED TO RETREAT.

British Loss Heavy—Thousands Killed on Both Sides—Depression in London—Ladysmith Impregnable.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

New York, Jan. 25.—A special to the Journal from London says:

Harassed by many hours heavy fire from the Boer guns, Warren was forced to evacuate Spion Kop Wednesday night, after holding it all day under a shell fire so incessant and accurate that British troops were mowed down by hundreds. Warren's fight caused thousands of dead and wounded on both sides. No attempt has been made by Buller to send a list of Warren's casualties.

The Kop, carried by Warren proved to be only a small part of the Boer defences. A half-battered light up by the Boers to hold it indicated that it was a wily plot to lure Warren into a trap, where his troops could be cut to pieces without any risk to the Boers. No sooner had Warren settled down in his trenches, than the Boers unmasked several guns which had been hidden five days. After a preliminary fighting from the night plateau dominating the captured trenches, a tornado of shell and scraped broke loose. The Boer gunners had the range to an inch and Warren was helpless in a trap. No gun had been or could be dragged up the steep hill and a retreat by daylight was impossible.

THE SITUATION AT LADYSMITH.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Lady-smith, Jan. 26.—By runner via Ferre Camp, Jan. 24.—The garrison is watching Buller's guns shelling the Boers. Their fire can be seen this distance and it appears very effective.
The movements of the Boers show they are evidently determined to stubbornly oppose the advance of the relief column. They show no signs of removing guns, but have mounted new ones, and are continually strengthening their fortifications. Our fortifications have been greatly strengthened since the sixth, and Ladysmith is now practically impregnable. Owing to the dry weather, fever has diminished, and the number of convalescents returning from Intombi Camp exceeds the number of patients sent there. All troops have plenty of food. The heat is terrible—107 in the shade.

BUSINESS DEPRESSION IN LONDON.

London, Jan. 26.—There has been a general collapse on the stock market, especially Kaffirs, following the announcement of Warren's abandonment of Spion Kop. Consols dropped twelve-sixteenths.

London, Jan. 26.—The war office has posted the following dispatch from Buller, dated Spearman's Camp, January 25 noon:

"Warren's garrison, I am sorry to say, I find this morning, has abandoned Spion Kop."

London is agitated at the news from Spion Kop. Yesterday there was great rejoicing at the news from Spion Kop, but today the feeling of depression is almost universal.

Cape Town, Jan. 26.—Carefully completed figures from Boer sources, some of which have been investigated and found correct, show Boer losses to date to be approximately 6,436, including two thousand casualties at the siege of Ladysmith.

MORE BRITISH TROOPS.

Cape Town, Jan. 26.—The transport men, arrived here yesterday.

LOSS OF THE BRITISH

London, Jan. 26.—Buller reports casualties of Wednesday, the 24th: Killed—officers, 6; men, 18. Wounded —officers, 12; men, 142. Missing, 31 men.

GATACRE AT STERKSTROM.

London, Jan. 25.—A dispatch to the Times from Sterkstroom states that patrol Brabarte's horse returned to camp Wednesday from Sterkstroom, where connection was affected French's patrol. This is taken to indicate that French's recent easterly movement for the purpose of making the above mentioned connection implies that Sterk-stroom is Gatacre's headquarters.

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of slavery is the worst form of slavery. Geo. D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle-working medicine is a godsend to every sick, rundown people. Every bottle guaranteed, only 50 cents. Sold by C. E.

Change Would be Welcomed.

Greensboro is moving to secure the state political conventions. She is building a good sized auditorium to cost $30,000; it will have a seating capacity of 1,470. Raleigh came near losing the democratic convention this time, and is beginning to discuss seriously the erection of a building to accommodate the numerous large conventions that meet there.—Charlotte

STORY DAYS IN FRANKFORT.

The State Election Board Hearing Evidence as to Tissue Ballots.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 25.—Tissue ballots and intimidation continue to be the burden of the evidence offered by the contestants before the state board hearing the gubernatorial contest. Today the state contest board announced the result of their consideration of the contestants counter-notice, and contestants were granted time to amend many paragraphs overruled and demurred to. Ex-Governor Bradley announced at the beginning of today's session that a warrant was issued for the arrest of Judge Sterling B. Toney, of the Louisiana law and equity court, for refusal to come to Frankfort and testify. The warrant was sent to Louisville for service tonight in response to ex-Governor Bradley's request. A dozen Wolf county election officers testified today concerning the use of alleged tissue ballots. Albert Brandeis, a Louisville attorney, said he examined the poll books of Louisville, and found that 27,166 voters indicated their party affiliation when they registered. He produced a tabulated statement showing that 16.8 per cent of the democratic voters registered failed to vote at the last election and that 19.8 per cent of the republicans registered failed to vote.

The arrival in Frankfort this morning of from 800 to 1,000 men armed with rifles, might have terrorized a community less laured to unusual and sensational happenings, but by nightfall the excitement caused by the appearance of the warlike visitors had subsided, and the people were prepared for another such in the events now making history at the state's capital.

The train that bore the armed men was made up of fourteen coaches. Apparently but few here knew that it was expected. The men left the coaches in front of the Louisville and Nashville station, and foraging into companies, marched to the state house where they deposited their arms promiscuously and then scattered about the buildings. Lunch was served to them at the rear of the state house. Most of visitors wore badges of white ribbon, adorned with a picture of Governor Taylor. While it is generally believed that many of the men who arrived today are soldiers, no person in authority will stand sponsor for the statement, while Governor Taylor and Adjutant General Collier disclaim any connection with them. The men have from various sections of the state.

After ex-Secretary of State Finley and Judge Sharp addressed them, at the state house, a committee was appointed to draft resolutions which indicated their mission. The resolutions as adopted will be presented to both houses of the legislature tomorrow.

These recite the inherent principles of liberty and free government proclaimed in the bill of rights; the right to freely communicate "our thoughts and opinions," and assemble peacefully for the good of fellow Kentuckians and of appealing to their agents and their proxies, the legislature, by either petition or remonstrance, admonish that body that peril hovers close over many things dear to them: invoke calm prudence and remonstrance against legislators being led into the temptations of partisan pride in the present crisis.
The resolution closes: "We beseech them to remember that their own just powers were loaned them by us at the polls and that among these was the jurisdiction to decide judicially and by due process of law, and not otherwise, what was then our expressed will, not their present political preference.
We implore them that they do not on slight or technical protests nor filmy or trivial causes, permit the subversion of that supreme law of the land, the will of the people."

WHERE IS GUILFORD?
 In regard to the claim of Durham leading the state in public school matters, the Raleigh News and Observer takes the answer out of our mouth, and is so much to the point that we must thank it for its quick perception and polite remarks. We are glad to know that Buncombe county is in such fine shape, and her schools will run so long. As compared with Durham county we are ahead on per capita, ahead on the term of the city schools, and the Citizen will note from our article that we stated the average terms would be seven to seven and a half months; and while the Buncombe schools will run seven months, that county has not such a great margin to brag on, and that Durham county is still at the head. We send greetings to Buncombe and are glad to know it is pushing Durham so close. These two counties set an example for others to follow.—Durham Sun.

We publish this clipping from the Durham Sun in regard to the schools of Durham and Buncombe counties. It is our belief that Guilford county is in a better position to develop educational interest in its borders than any other county in North Carolina. With the Normal and Industrial College, Greensboro Female College, Guilford College, Oak Ridge, Whitsett Institute and graded schools in Greensboro and High Point, it does look like Guilford should have the best public school system in the state. We believe that the opportunity of having the best county public school system in the state is here. Systematic and determined effort will bring it about.

That colored student at the A. and M. College debate who took the affirmative on the query "Should the Constitutional Amendment be adopted," made a more patriotic and logical speech than Senator Fritchard did in his condemnation of it. The student argued his side with an eye to the future of his race and the present peaceful relations of all the people; the senator argued it from the standpoint of a partisan who cares nothing for the future of either race, that does not promise himself position regardless of conditions which may exist in the state. The student is the wisest statesman of the two.—Morning Post.

The broad tire movement, which, like that for good roads, originated in North Carolina, has reached Chicago, where an agitation for broad tires for trucks and all kinds of vehicles is on hand. The arguments in favor of broad tires for country roads are known of all men in this section. The adoption for broad tires in city traffic is based upon the grounds of economy. It is argued that broad tires will benefit property owners because pavements they are taxed heavily to construct will not wear out rapidly. Given broad tires, property owners will be willing to go to the expense of better pavements. They will accept asphalt where they now insist on cedar block or macadam. Then the merchants and others who have traffic teams will find their hauling will not cost them so much. Reviewing the many advantages of broad tires, the Tribune concludes that "nothing but perverse, unthinking conservatism has kept the men who will be most benefited by wide tired from adopting them years ago." The broad tire appears to be a good thing for both city and country. Its general adoption is only a question of time.—Charlotte Observer.

Mr. Youngpop—"What's that boy crying about?" Mrs. Youngpop—"He wants something he can't get." Ten minutes later. Mr. Youngpop—"Now what's he crying about?" Mrs. Youngpop—"He's got something he didn't want."

Robbed the Grave.
 A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides; no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters; and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. Never Drank Anything Else.
 An amusing incident occurred at a certain Fayetteville street drug store yesterday.
 A man from the Indian Territory who had just the day before completed his sentence in the penitentiary, was preparing to go home. Dressed in true western style—sombrero, pistol belt, high heeled boots and all—he came down the street in company with a penitentiary official.
 "Come in and have something," said the official as they were about to pass the drug store door.
 "Don't care 'I do," replied the ex-convict, and in they went.
 "I believe I'll take a cocoa-cola," said the official to the clerk, and turning to his companion asked: "And what will you take, sir?"
 "Oh," said the ex-convict carelessly, "give me corn whiskey. I never drink anything else."
 The clerk, taking in the situation, quickly replied that he had none of the beverage ordered in stock at present, but pointed out a place where it might be obtained.—Times-Visitor.

Dangers of Filters.
 Filters for purifying water are of many kinds in their mechanical structure, but according to the report of the Maryland state board of health, it would appear that such filters may steadily lose efficiency until they become first class culture beds for bacteria. In evidence of this position an example cited is that of a man in Baltimore who sends the whole water supply of his home through a large filter, and subsequently puts his drinking water through one of the small domestic filters common in the market.
 A test of this arrangement showed that on a day when the city taps were running 510 bacteria to the cubic centimeter the large filter was delivering some 9,000 bacteria in the same water. When the large filter was repacked, only 9 bacteria per centimeter got through it, though this same water when passed through the small filter came out with 71 bacteria per centimeter.
 This aspect of the matter is still further strengthened by another example, a case where a filter supposed to be the best in the market was in use. The effectiveness of this filter was short lived, the precaution was observed of boiling the water after it was filtered.

What He Didn't Know.
 "They say that ex-Mayor Latrobe went to some sort of a celebration given by the Ebenezer colored church down on Montgomery street," said a man about town. "He was asked to speak and of course he complied in his usual style. 'You have named this church after a great man,' he said, 'and I hope you will try to emulate his example. He was a man who couldn't be led astray by any one and believed his first duty was to God, and then to his fellow man. He was a—' Well, I don't know what all he didn't say about that fellow Ebenezer, but anyhow he noticed for some reason or other his address wasn't as usual, only received as usual, and as he drove away after the meeting behind Old Lis he was humming the old hymn 'Here I Raise My Ebenezer and trying to figure out what the matter was. When he got home he asked a good Christian lady, who happened to be there on a visit, who Ebenezer was."
 "Why, you goose," said she, "Ebenezer wasn't a man. Ebenezer means a stone. Didn't you know that?"
 "Now when General Latrobe addresses a church audience he carries a pocket Bible dictionary with him."—Baltimore News.

Fun For the Shah.
 During the winter months the little colony of 60 or 70 English people at the Persian consulate for one another's amusement. There is a dance now and then at the legation, and when the weather is cold of course there is skating. Skating is the greatest marvel of all to the Persians. Some years ago the late shah, Nasr-i-Din, saw 20 skaters twirling and curling and spinning gracefully on the ice. He was amused. He thought it wonderful. The next day he sent to the legation and borrowed a dozen pairs of the skates. These he made his ministers put on and attempt to skate on the lake in the palace grounds. The poor ministers were terribly disconcerted, but it was twice as much as their heads were worth to refuse. His majesty was more amused than ever, and he nearly had an apoplexy fit from laughing.

Human Beaters.
 In considering the problem of beating the large department stores which are now to be found in nearly every big city it is very well worth taking into account the animal heat distributed by the many customers who come into such establishments. That this is considerable is evidenced by the experience of at least one engineer, who in one such case, found that after 9:30 a. m. on a day in midwinter, with the thermometer at the freezing point, no other heat was needed to keep the place warm. This fact, however, emphasizes as well the great need of a good system of ventilation in such buildings, as without it the air would soon become vitiated and beyond any reasonable permissible degree.—Camden's Magazine.

Icehouse Fires.
 Curiously, an icehouse is the most likely place in the world for a fire. Insurance rates are so high on ice sheds as to be almost prohibitive of any policies being taken out. Spontaneous combustion is responsible for the fire in ice sheds, according to some authorities. When a layer of ice is melted around the top and sides in summer, an immense amount of heat is set free. When conditions are exactly favorable, spontaneous combustion takes place. Others believe that a zone of warmth and moisture is created by the melting ice and that this attracts lightning. In any case an icehouse is a beautiful place for a fire.

Copper Colored Splotches.

There is only one cure for Contagious Blood Poison—the disease which has completely baffled the doctors. They are totally unable to cure it, and direct their efforts toward bottling the poison up in the blood and concealing it from view. S. S. S. cures the disease positively and permanently by forcing out every trace of the taint.

I was afflicted with a terrible blood disease, which was in spots at first, but afterward spread all over my body. These spots broke out in sores, and it is easy to imagine the suffering I endured. Before I became convinced that the doctors could do no good, I had spent a hundred dollars, which was really thrown away. I then tried various patent medicines, but they did me no good. When I had finished my first bottle of S. S. S. I was greatly improved and was delighted with the result. The large red splotches on my chest began to grow pale and smaller, and before long disappeared entirely. I regained my lost weight, became stronger, and my skin greatly improved. I was soon entirely well, and my skin as clear as a piece of glass. It is true, I suffered for a long time, but I don't destroy all possible chance of a cure by taking the doctor's treatment of mercury and potash. These minerals cause the hair to fall out, and will wreck the entire system.

S.S.S. For the Blood
 is purely vegetable, and is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain no potash, mercury, or other mineral. Books on the disease and its treatment mailed free by S. S. S. Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

Manager Martin, of the Piersen drug store, informs us that he is having a great run on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sells five bottles of that medicine to one of any other kind, and it gives great satisfaction. The sales are growing and all who try it are pleased with its prompt action.—South Chicago Daily Calumet. For sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

It was one of these experiments all farmers who put green spectacles on his cow and feel her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds his self regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak," the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and nourish the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor nar-otics, and is as free from alcohol as opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

"I can say to you, one bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has cured me of stomach disease," writes W. H. Brantley, of Gaston Co., N. C. "My health is worth all the world to me. I will praise you as long as I live."

NEWS IN OLDEN DAYS.

CUSTOMS IN VOGUE BEFORE THE ERA OF NEWSPAPERS.

The Letter Trace Their Origin to Rome Long Before the Christian Era—The Paper That Was Published by Queen Elizabeth.

The germ of newspapers is found in ancient Rome. The government some two centuries previous to the Christian era is known to have promulgated its edicts by means of written papers affixed to pillars. Nor was there much difference between the style of these acts diaries, as they were termed, and that which now prevails further than that the former were more brief and simple and deficient in introductory phrases and editorial "we." They generally gave the news or occurrence in simply indicative sentences without introduction or comment of any kind.

Most of these acts which have been preserved are found to mention but one or two events. They are headed with the date in Roman fashion and the name of the then consul and paragraphs such as the following formed the staple: "It thundered, and an earthquake was felt on the day of the senate in the afternoon." "Murena, the consul, identified early in the morning in the Temple of Castor and Pollux in Pompey's senate house." "C. Caesar set out for his government in farther Spain, having long been detained by his creditors."

It is hardly possible for us now, with all the lights of science around and the shoals of newspapers with which we are surrounded, to form a proper notion of the darkness which, for want of these, involved the masses of the people for many centuries after the fall of the Roman empire. We are told that the Rumors were ignorant of geography that at every town they approached in central Europe they inquired if it was Jerusalem. When they at length reached their destination, their exploits would have remained unknown for years to their relatives and friends at home.

It was not until the sixteenth century that anything at all approaching even to the scanty Roman acts diaries can be found to have revived in the modern world. The war which the Venetians republic waged against the Turks gave rise in 1563 to the custom of communicating the news of the day by means of printed sheets, and the custom information in Venice by written sheets, notize scribbles, to be read in a particular place to those desirous of hearing the news, who paid for this privilege with a coin now known as the called gas-setta, a name which came in time to be applied to the news sheet itself both in Italy and France and subsequently in England, when this mode of imparting news came into use.

The Venetian government eventually gave these announcements in a regular manner once a month, but they were too tedious to allow them to be printed.
Only a few written copies were transmitted to such an subscribed and paid for them. Thirty volumes of these valuable manuscript newspapers exist in the Maglia Bechian library at Florence.
About the same time advertising want commenced, the father of Montaigne, the celebrated essayist, being credited with the suggestion for making the wants of individuals known to the public in France. This was received at offices established for the purpose and were first posted on the walls of public places, receiving the names of affiches.
In time this led to a systematic and periodic publication in sheets. These were termed affiches in consequence of their contents being originally fixed up as placards, though the word itself is French for advertisement.

Queen Elizabeth that the honor of commencing printed sheets of public intelligence is to be ascribed. When the Spanish armada threatened an invasion of this country, that sage queen, remarking the disadvantage of the vague and alarming rumors which circulated everywhere, resolved to inform her people truly of the impending dangers.
She began to publish from time to time a sheet bearing the following title:
"The English Mercury, published by authority, for the contradiction of false reports." Of this publication three copies are preserved in the British museum, the earliest, No. 50, bearing date July 28, 1588. The first article, dated from Whitehall, contains advice from Sir Francis Walsingham that the armada was seen in the channel making for the entrance, with a favorable gale. An account is then given of her majesty's fleet, which consisted of 80 sail, divided into four squadrons, commanded by the lord high admiral, in the Ark Royal, Sir Francis Drake and Admiral Hawkins and Frobisher. Under the head, "London," there is an account of an interview which the mayor and corporation had on the previous day with her majesty, for the purpose of ascertaining her resolution to stand by her with their lives and fortunes to the last.

Under the same head appears the following paragraph: "Yesterday the Scottish ambassador, had a private audience of her majesty, and delivered a letter containing the most cordial assurance of adhering to her majesty's interests, and to those of the Protestant religion, and the young king, James Vith, said to her majesty's minister at his court that all the favor he expected of the Spaniards was the courtesy of Poliphemus to Ulysses, that he should be devoured to the last." We wonder what would be thought of ambassadors in these days if they interlarded their oral communications with such classical references!

BIRD FLIGHT.

They flock upon the busy air, Silent and swift and purposeful wing, Nor gossip of the nesting time Disturb their rhythmic, air born swing.

Across the dying fields light shadows fall
The sun's warm rays, gleams the sun; Then swift—a graceful troop—they wing their way,
Pursued in haste by some belated cow.

Now all the stubble land turns twilight gray
A hum with mystic runes and harvest song, Above the waiting world a tiny speck Grows pale and fades against the southern hills.
—Elizabeth Alden Curtis in Philadelphia.

WAR AND MATRIMONY.

Cupid Is Much the Busiest in Times of Peace and Prosperity.

"There is a close connection between marriage and the price of wheat, beef, pork, beans, corn and other things which go to make up the main portion of human food," writes Professor D. R.
McKinnley of "The American Girl's Chances of Marriage" in The Ladies' Home Journal. "As the prices of these commodities go up the number of marriages goes down. From 1861 to 1864 1876 was a good year for marriage, and the marriage rate in Massachusetts went up to 26 per 1,000. Between 1865 and 1869 there was great depression of trade, and in 1868 the marriage rate went down to 17 per 1,000. The years from 1873 to 1879 form another period of depression. Factories were closed and manufacturers of every kind suffered severely. In one year, at least, crops were short and the price of food was high. The result was immediately seen in matrimony, for in 1874 the number of marriages went down from 21 per 1,000 of the population to 18, and in 1875 and the following two years declined to 15 per 1,000—a tremendous falling off from 26 per 1,000, the figure attained in 1864, which was the banner year in the state of Massachusetts for matrimony."

"Almost as unfavorable as that of hard times is the influence of war upon matrimony. Whenever Mars is in the ascendant Cupid's stock goes down.
During the civil war the number of marriages in this country fell off from 20 per 1,000 of population to 17 per 1,000, and immediately after the civil war was ended, in 1865, the number rose to 22 per 1,000, declining in 1869 to 21. The woman who is looking for a husband has a better chance of getting one just before or just after a war than at any other time."

With the Fading of Beauty.
A 16-year-old girl imagines that she is an angel, and never gets over it.
After a woman gets old she thinks of how she was admired and complimented in her youth and feels that something great was done for her because she did not remain as pretty as she was at 16. If she is married, she is apt to lay the blame on the brutality of her husband; if she is an old maid, she lays it on her father, who was poor, and thus forced her to work, which resulted in a stooping figure and harsh features.
A man never has this experience. He is at his worst at 16 and does not get his best until he is 36 to 40. By that time he has acquired a little sense, and never mistakes a compliment for the truth.—Acheson Globe.

Sunday School Gema.
Stories of strange and amusing answers given to examination questions are frequently told, but we do not so often see recorded the equally surprising answers given by children in Sunday schools, and yet they are frequently original enough.

A teacher, lately wishing to turn the young idea toward the division field, asked, "What are good men called who leave their homes and go to foreign lands to teach the heathen?"
"Prodigious sons," was the prompt and triumphant reply.

A class of boys when asked, "What were the ten plagues?" answered with more fervor than gallantry, "The ten virgins, sir."—Westminster Gazette.

Have No Use For Cents.
Pennies are not used by the banks of New Orleans in the payment of checks.
If a check, for example, is drawn for $62.18, the holder receives $62.30. If the amount is $62.17, he gets $62.15.
The split is made between the second and third cent, and the system, which has been in vogue for many years, is very rarely the subject of any complaint. It makes an exact balance of coppers at the end of the day's business rather unlikely, but the doctrine of average operates to even things up to within a few cents. In the long run about as many checks break on one-half of the nickel as on the other.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Men of Making Indians.
The Menominee Indians, in northwestern Wisconsin, are making as much money in lumber operations as the Ojegas at farming. By the sale of pine logs in years past the 1,600 men, women and children have accumulated a tribal fund aggregating $1,000,000, which is still growing. The tribe expects about $75,000 a year in logging operations and clears from $50,000 to $100,000 annually.

Detecting Flaws in Metal.
To detect hidden cracks opening from the surface of metals the surface is first moistened with kerosene and is then dried off with a cloth. It is then coated with chalk. After a little while the oil of the little cracks and other defects the chalk. A sort of diagram of the hidden fissures and defects is thus produced.

Professor C. Lloyd Morgan has in his book on "Habit and Instinct" advanced the theory that, while the calls and alarm notes uttered by birds are probably due to simple instinct, their songs may be traditional—that is, handed down from generation to generation and perpetuated through the faculty of imitation.

Around the World.
It has been demonstrated repeatedly in every state in the union and in many foreign countries that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a certain preventive and cure for croup. It has become the universal remedy for that disease. M.
V. Fisher, of Liberty, W. Va., only repeats what has been said around the globe when he writes: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for several years and always with perfect success. We believe that it is not only the best cough remedy, but that it is a sure cure for croup. It has saved the lives of our children a number of times." This remedy is for

WINE OF CARDUI

A LITTLE
DOES MUCH.

Bozons, Iowa, Dec. 14.
No tongue can tell what I have endured in the past ten years with my monthly sickness. While in bed with my head under a pillow, I would not be able to get up, and I would not be able to get up, and I would not be able to get up. After the first dose I began to feel better and have had no more of it since.
—MR. GRACE LAMPHIER.

Wine of Cardui not only cures but it acts AT ONCE. Here is a case of ten years' standing, and yet one single dose made the sufferer feel better, and stopped the pain. The Wine goes straight to the seat of the trouble.
It acts directly upon the menstrual and genital organs. Its action is not violent, and it does not produce a result. It simply gives Nature that little assistance that the sufferer's system lacks. A single disorder in the female organs spreads many disorders all over the body, and when the Wine cures the source, all the other ills vanish as a matter of course. A woman can be her own physician and cure herself at home. Local examinations are largely things of the past—the obnoxious custom is no longer necessary. Wine of Cardui is the only perfectly safe and sure vegetable Wine made to-day for the cure of "female troubles."

J. I. Berry, Loganton, Pa., writes I am willing to take my oath I was cured of pneumonia entirely by the use of One Minute Cough Cure entirely after doctors failed. It also cured my children of whooping cough." Quickly relieves and cures coughs, colds, croup, grippe and throat and lung troubles. Children all like it. Mothers endorse it. How-

When a man is afflicted with scabbiness he usually has to scratch for a living.

C. E. F. O. R. D., druggist, guarantees every bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and will refund the money to any one who is not satisfied after using two-thirds of the contents. This is the best remedy in the world for la grippe, coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and is pleasant and safe to take. It prevents any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia.

Keep your feet dry. Shoe bills are cheaper than doctors' bills. We can fit you and any of your family in good reliable shoes at very moderate prices. It is no use for us to quote prices, because telling you the price does not convey any idea to you unless you can see the shoes. But we have too many shoes on hand in several lines and if you will take the trouble to give us a look we can convince you that we are willing to give you a great deal of shoe value for a very small amount of money, whether we get a profit on the shoes or not.

under the existing circumstances.
